

What can I say? Jonathan is amazing. If you are looking for a tutor to help up your LSAT score whether you are trying to break into the 160s or 170s, I cannot say enough good things about the decision to hire Jonathan.

Right from the start, I knew hiring Jonathan was a smart choice. We review where my mistakes were on my initial LSAT and we laid out a plan. The nice thing about Jonathan is he is very honest, I knew exactly what my potential was, I knew my target schools and he help solidify concepts that I had failed to grasp when learning the fundamentals.

Overall, if you are looking for someone to guide you, support you and provide you with a realistic goal, you cannot go wrong by hiring Jonathan. I was personally able to improve my score from my initial and I attribute that to the confidence and education Jonathan imparted on me.

Do yourself a favour, if you are on the fence... just hire him. In terms of my LSAT prep, it was one of the best decisions I made.
