In just a few short weeks Jonathan was able to significantly increase my LSAT score. Other classes and tutors warned me that having only four weeks to prepare wasn't sufficient to make a serious jump in my results, so I knew I had to make the most of my time, and that's exactly what I was able to do with Jonathan's direction. His method of making you truly understand the reasoning behind your answers, and not being satisfied until you're able to articulate why you answered a certain way, made all the difference for me. He also had invaluable tips for how to approach the test, and how to be physically and mentally prepared for a full day of test taking. My diagnostic score was in the 140s, but after a month studying with him I scored a 163. This allowed me to reach for better schools than I thought I could get in to, and now I'm thrilled to have accepted a large scholarship to attend the University of Alabama school of Law.
