Jonathan changed my whole perspective and attitude towards the LSAT. Prior to meeting Jonathan, I hated the LSAT and would dread studying for it. I then took the June exam and ended up cancelling my score because I knew I didn't perform to my full ability. Feeling hopeless, I reached out to a friend who recommended Jonathan to me and I am so thankful for that. Not only did Jonathan teach me the method to crack those dreaded logic games, but he also broke down logical reasoning and reading comprehension questions until I fully understood the concepts. He also would relate the LSAT concepts to real world examples, which is always helpful. Not to mention, Jonathan is so nice, friendly, approachable, and knows the test inside and out. I ended up earning a score in the 90th percentile on the October LSAT and will be attending NYU Law School next fall. It was an absolute pleasure to work with him and I would recommend him to anyone and everyone.
